

AUTHOR'S BIO

After graduating from Penn State University in 1980 with a degree in Engineering, Carl escaped the frigid cold of the east coast for the warm sunshine of Southern California.

Carl, who describes himself as an writer trapped in an engineer's body didn't discover his true love—writing—until his forties. His first book, The Essential Guide To RF and Wireless (Prentice-Hall) is on it's second edition and has become an industry standard. So Why Have You Never Been Married is his first book on relationships, but according to him, not his last.

Carl also has a Masters of Science from the University of Southern California and a Masters in Business Administration from Loyola Marymount University, in addition to, as he jokingly says, “a PhD in avoiding marriage”

He lives in Redondo Beach, California. He can be reached at PO Box 1941, Redondo Beach, CA 90278
Email: Carl@WhyNeverMarried.com